It is becoming increasingly clear that the COVID-19 pandemic will result in one of the most disruptive economic episodes of our generation. Innovation management software provides one of the most effective ways to tackle disruption, but only if you use it correctly. This Q&A session with Qmarkets' VP Product (Sivan Leshem), and Head of Customer Success (Ilona Gochman), will help you to understand how you can leverage the wisdom of your crowd against the challenges posed by this crisis.

Register for this webinar to gain:

- First-hand best practices to inspire you to fight disruption with disruption through innovation management
- Guidance and suggestions for the technical use of your system
- An opportunity to ask any questions and express any concerns you might have in an open forum

At this time innovation is more important than ever, so be sure to join this webinar and see how your company can benefit.
